Greetings!

I'd like to be the first to officially welcome you to our new office at 5101 Highland Place Drive in Dallas!

After many months of planning and hard work, the relocation from Kingsport, Tennessee to the Yaquinto Printing facility, and finally to our new Highland Place Drive location is nearing completion. Our business offices and most of manufacturing are "up and running", and I am pleased to tell you that the transition (so far) has been painless. By Mid-October, all card converting and commercial finishing equipment will be fully operational in the new building. Presses will be moved (one at a time) starting in late October with projected completion in January. We expect no disruption of press services during this time. We will also be adding to our capabilities over the coming months with more technology, additional automation and new machines, not the least of which is a KBA full UV, 10-color, perfecting printing press. The "New KBA" will arrive in January and be operational in March.

I've been in this business longer than I like to admit, and during that time I've visited hundreds of printing and manufacturing operations. I really don't want this to sound boastful, but 5101 Highland Place will be one of the premiere printing and manufacturing facilities in the U.S. It is certainly one of the best "thought out" plant layouts I've seen and I am anxious to see your reaction after your first visit.

In addition to the physical upgrades, we've made our name change official. Yaquinto-Cartamundi is now "Cartamundi USA". Excitement and enthusiasm continue to build here in Dallas, and it is our hope that you will experience an improved service level as we settle into our new "digs". Thanks for your patience during the transformation and we look forward to seeing you soon!

Best regards,
Steve Young
